Importance of Salat: It is recorded in hadith that if salat existed at the time of Noah, his nation would not have incurred the wrath of God. All other pillars of Islam are conditional, but salat is not; it is obligatory in all conditions. All are performed once during the year, but salat is performed daily at five different times. Therefore, whenever there is a deficiency in salat, there will be a deficiency in blessings and deficiency in the oath.

Importance of salat

Wherever it is not possible to go to Masjid, a few Ahmadis living close by should organize to get together in one home to offer prayers in congregation.

Those Ahmadis living in isolated areas should make arrangements within the household to offer prayers in congregation with family members.

On weekends, families have plans for outings but if they do not have such plans, then they should plan to go to the mosque, together, as family.

Families who offer prayers in congregation on their leisure outdoor trips also become a source of doing tabligh.

Without salat, a Muslim cannot earn the privilege of being called a Muslim.
